

PEAK 50x25

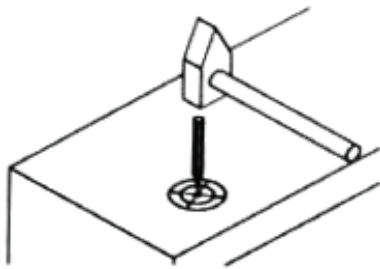

Instructions for Wall Mounting

This basin is glazed on all four sides to allow for left or right taphole.

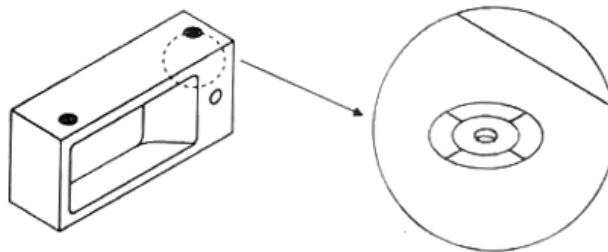

When mounting this basin on a vanity bolt holdes do not need to be punched and basin can be glued to cabinet and wall.

When wall mounting basin bolt holes will need to be punched.
Punch holes out as shown below to suit left or right taphole.

Using a small hammer and a centre punch lightly tap the centre of the hole.

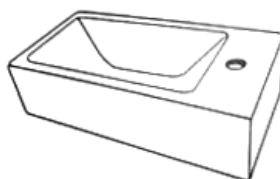

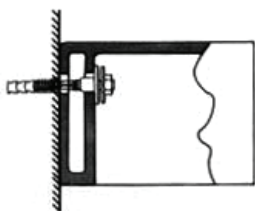

After a few blows the ceramic plug will fall out, leaving a thin layer of ceramic. Remove this with a file. Do not make holes too large.

This hole is knocked out by installer. This hole is existing.

Use suitable fixings to mount it to the wall.
